To whom it may concern

After having had our house and garden damaged by hurricane Irma in September 2017, we engaged Bould Consulting to determine the extent of the damage caused, agree the scope of work with the insurers, prepare the claim for submission to the insurers, submit it and initiate a negotiation with the insurers representatives.

Bould Consulting carried out all of the above work in a very professional manner and were a pleasure to deal with on a personal basis.

The result for us was that the insurance company, after some considerable initial resistance, in the end agreed to make a settlement which was entirely satisfactory to us – a settlement that was entirely based on the very efficient and convincing work carried out out by Bould Consulting.

Employing Bould Consulting to handle the claim was extremely cost effective for us and we would undoubtedly use Bould Consulting for any future insurance claim we might have, and are happy to recommend their services to anybody in a similar situation as us.

Yours faithfully,
